Updates

CCADB Team suggested note on SHA256 thumbprints published:

- Support to identify all relevant CA Owner's SHA256 thumbprints for a specific AAL (see CSV file from ccadb.org/resources)

The screenshot shows the ACAB'c website with the following content:

- Navigation menu: Home, Members, Board, Key figures, News, Position papers, Terms, Conditions and Policies, Downloads, Contact, Glossary, Legal.
- Downloads
 - The ACAB'c provides support for the community with regard to interpretation of standards and their use throughout audit and certification. Overall goal is the harmonized use and interpretation of requirements.
 - Audit Attestation Letter templates (ALL)
 - These AAL templates consider the CA/B Forum as well as the browser requirements on audit attestation letters following an ETSI audit for a CA/TSP. The template is crosschecked by the colleagues of the Mozilla Root Store program for browser compliance. It will be amended and updated asap on any changes at CA/B Forum or Root Store level.
 - Note:
 - To identify all of a CA Owner's SHA256 thumbprints that should be included in a specific AAL, it is recommended that you download a copy of the "All Certificate Information (root and intermediate)" in CCADB (CSV) file from ccadb.org/resources and apply a filter for the "CA Owner" and "TLS/TLS EYB/S-MIME/Code Signing] Capable" columns. (e.g., if you want to identify all thumbprints that should be included in a TLS-BR AAL you can filter first by the "CA Owner" column and then by the "TLS Capable" column where the value is TRUE.)"
