

From: management-bounces@cabforum.org [mailto:management-bounces@cabforum.org]
On Behalf Of Wayne Thayer
Sent: Tuesday, July 31, 2012 2:32 PM
To: management@cabforum.org
Subject: [cabfman] Patent Exclusion Notice - Go Daddy

In light of tomorrow's effective date for the IPR policy, here is Go Daddy's written patent exclusion notice to the CA/Browser forum:

The following patents and patent applications may relate to the subject matter of the CA/Browser Forum's standard-setting activities:

U.S. Patents:

8,156,190
8,145,707
8,117,439
8,103,761
8,086,848
7,912,906
7,707,404
7,702,902

U.S. Patent Applications:

13/406,250
13/342,720
13/331,160 (2012-0089832)
13/077,876 (2011-0185172)
13/077,859 (2011-0179275)
12/046,649 (2009-0235067)
12/019,216 (2009-0193070)
11/866,989 (2008-0028443)
11/375,751 (2006-0168161)
11/330,772 (2006-0168116)
11/306,612 (2006-0200487)
11/184,519 (2007-0022292)

10/931,826 (2006-0047965)
10/932,281 (2006-0047950)

Should an "Essential Claim," as defined in section 8.1 of the CA/Browser Forum Intellectual Property Rights Policy Version 1.0 (the "IPR Policy"), be identified in any of the above-identified patents or patent applications, such patents and patent applications are expressly excluded from the licensing obligations set forth in the IPR Policy and this shall constitute Go Daddy's "Exclusion Notice" in accordance with section 4.3 of the IPR Policy, in relation to both the EV Guidelines v1.3 and the Baseline Requirements v1.0.

Thanks,

Wayne Thayer
CTO
GoDaddy.com
480.505.8800 x4395